The Ronald McDonald House is a temporary "home-away-from-home" for families of seriously ill children receiving treatment at any of the Miami-Dade and Broward County pediatric medical facilities. The first Ronald McDonald House in South Florida opened in Miami, 27 years ago on the grounds of Jackson Memorial Medical Center. The second House is located in Fort Lauderdale on the grounds of Chris Evert Children's Hospital at Broward General Medical Center in Downtown Fort Lauderdale.

Last year more than 500 families used the services of both houses in South Florida.
